BOND ADVOCATES
MEET LEXINGTON

"Biggest Row-Down" of Good Roads Association to Convene at 19 and 20

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 3.—What promised to be the biggest Row-Down of advocates for the $20,000,000 state road bond issue so far held in Kentucky, will assemble at Lexington on July 19-20, when the Central and Eastern Kentucky Good Roads Association, a recently formed body working with the Kentucky Good Roads Association, meets in convention at that time.

This body of road enthusiasts have adopted as their slogan: "United, we move forward. Divided, we stick in the mud," and expect to demonstrate that instead of floundering in the mud for the next twenty-five years, we can be voting the bond issue blind primary system in five years, without raising the tax rate one cent. Nationally known speakers connected with such movements in other states will address the gathering and tell of the results in their states from such bond issues.

The temporary offices of the organization are: President G. W. Gentry, Beattyville, vice presidents W. L. Watson, Ashland and Jos. F. Bosworth, Middlesboro; treasurer, H. Giovannelli, Lexington and executive secretary Jim Murel, the "Boone Way Man," Lexington.

OPTIMISTIC ON FUTURE BUSINESS
IN MIDDLESBORO

Slump in Conditions Now Reflects
General Tendency of Country—Future for City Seen As Very Bright

EXPECT COAL BUSINESS TO BE BETTER SOON

Although admitting a slump in business here just now in keeping with the general slump all over the whole country, local bankers, smacking up the situation here today, spoke optimistically of the future, prophesying, in the long pull, a better economic future than even the most enthusiastic had ever dreamed.

In making this prognostication they point to the construction work on the L. and N. double track, the building of the road across the mountains to Pender, opening up, as it does, such a wide new territory, road construction to the north, assuming a good through highway, as well as prospects for the national park near here and other large industries which have been proposed.

Deposits have changed little at either bank during the past six months, though the volume of business is less now. The middle of May probably marked the peak of the six months just passed.

Roger Babson has the following to say of the coal situation:

"Conditions in the bituminous coal industry are entirely different from last year. Contrasted with the limited production of last year we now have production near a high record. Coal on loadings are running 100,000 a week, or 20,000 a week above the usual movement at this time of the year. Stocks are being built up. The price tendency is still downward. The industry is in a decided slump, although prices, due to the high wage scales, are now nearing the cost of production. They are low enough so that clients should avoid fall and winter needs, especially on concessions."

Coal is, of course, the big business here and though conditions now echo this summary, local business men expect it to be better during the next six months. This is strengthened by the fact of the Southern Railway placing its contracts here and by the general demand for coal increase that will be manifested.

$100,000 Award Is Announced By Philadelphia Publisher For Best Practicable Plan

NEW YORK, July 3.—Creation by Edward Bok, of Philadelphia, of an award of $100,000 to be called the American peace award and to be given to the American individual or organization presenting the best practicable plan by which the United States may cooperate with other nations for the achievement of preservation of world peace, was announced by the policy committee organized to administer the award.

The conditions are under formulation but competition will be open to every American. Plans will be received until the middle of November. The personnel of the jury of award will be announced before September 1.

Mr. Bok's purpose, it was explained, is to give all Americans an opportunity to express themselves "upon a problem for which we have not been able to find an answer through political channels or through the efforts of interested special groups."

It was hoped to obtain a workable plan that would be acceptable to all or most of the various groups, "which, while differing as to the best method of international cooperation, agree in the desire to find some way by which the United States can do its share in preventing war and establishing good will among the nations."

COOPERATION GOOD IN RAT KILLING CAMPAIGN

Business men are giving splendid cooperation in the city wide rat-killing campaign, according to Miss Anna Mae Wright who, with Miss Helen Caldwell, is conducting the campaign there. The girls assisted in preparing the poisonous bait at some local business houses yesterday. Barium carbonate, the substance used to kill the rats, may be bought at any drug store.

Rats here are numerous, they say, particularly in places near the canal. Many families are prevented from raising chickens because of the rats. Where chickens are kept, the poison should be placed under an overturned box and holes should be made in the sides large enough to admit the rats, but small enough to exclude the chickens. The girls say that proper cooperation of Middlesboro people in the campaign would result in a total extermination of the rats.

Congressman Taylor spent some time tonight as the guest of "Uncle Joe" Cannon and other friends in Danville.

FOURTH TO BE CELEBRATED IN ELABORATE WAY

Middlesboro Only Place, Presumably, Which Ignores Day Except For Decorating—Other Cities Plan Celebrations

POST OFFICE ANISOME OF STORE WILL CLOSE

Southeastern Kentucky will celebrate the Fourth of July in a magnificent and appropriate manner. While there will be no public celebration here tomorrow, other towns this section mid-year holiday a gala day. Middlesboro civic organization and the general public have been invited to attend these.

The Barbourville Kiwanis are planning a celebration at Shuman Springs, near Barbourville, at members of the local Kiwanis club have been invited. The Big Stone Gap Kiwanis will give a similar event here and have extended invitations to the local club. Though no delegates have been selected to attend these events, it is understood that a number of local members are planning to go.

Lynch will have one of the best public celebrations ever held there. A feature of this will be a mammoth "Safety-First" parade in which all organizations will participate. The event has been widely advertised in this vicinity and, in all probability, Middlesboro will be liberally represented.

At Bristol, Tenn., and at Jellico public celebrations will be held which will draw a liberal patronage from the surrounding towns and rural sections. Corbin is planning a big Shrine celebration there.

In all these towns every effort will be made to make the events a success. There will be public speaking, music, parades, contests and other features. A "Safe and Sound" Fourth will be generally observed in this section this year. Fireworks which usually cause deaths, personal injury and property damages are being rather discouraged.

In many respects business conditions in Middlesboro will remain as on other days. A number of the department store managers have declared their intention of remaining open as usual. The drug stores will also be open, according to statements of owners this morning. Some of the hardware stores will be closed.

Department store owners say that many out of town residents come here on such holidays for shopping purposes and that they will remain open for their convenience. Many of the clerks will be relieved from duty for the day, however, only enough remaining to attend to the small business expected.

The general delivery, parcel post and stamp windows of the post office will be open from 8 to 9 o'clock in the morning. There will be no city delivery. Mail will be received and dispatched as on other days.

Both the banks will be closed all day. Some of the other business places will be closed and others will remain open, this depending on the amount of work to be done and the personal attitude of the proprietors.

Even though Middlesboro has not prepared any public celebration, appropriate decorations have not been neglected. A number of the business places are decorated with American flags and others will doubtless follow suit. Large quantities of flags, all sizes, have been received by department stores and a number of them had been sold this morning.

Many private parties will go to Fern Lake for picnic and outing trips. A Fourth of July dance will be given at the Booneway Inn tomorrow night.

Fourth of July Celebration

Middlesboro Chapter No. 135 will celebrate the Fourth of July by conferring the Royal Arch degrees on a class of nine, beginning at 7 o'clock this evening. Major E. S. Helburn and T. R. Hill will be the principal speakers. Refreshments. Henry Hollingsworth.

GLORIOUS FOURTH

Lucie Sam is 147 years old this fourth of July, dating from the signing of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. In those 147 years the red and blue ontions have said
about everything possible on the subject.

But as the years slip by, the fact that stands forth most nobly about the glorious fourth is that the men who engendered the Declaration of Independence and later formed the Constitution which with the four continuements are the basis of our laws
and remarkably far-sighted vision.

Forward frequently comment that it is almost uncanny how the constitution makers were able to see into the future and anticipate so many phases of modern life. The things they overlooked were relatively few and probably they didn't overlook all the overlooking. Long in the way that followers have interpreted the original intentions of the framers.

Amendments can correct in time,
the framers overlooked.

The Declaration of Independence was the father of the Constitution of the United States.

We began setting our independence finished yet. For one thing, we have back on July 4, 1776. The present free speech—except when it is needed most.

But you cast your minds eye out over the troubled world and you won't find trade places with the people of any other country.

Fourth of July has changed a lot in the way we observe it. Fireworks have been banned in most communities. That saves many lives. It means that in at least the one way
we're becoming more sensible.

Wouldn't you like to come back 147 years from now in the year 2076 and see what's doing on the fourth?

THE FEMINE
MIND

A few years ago when education was looked upon as a definite expression of the mind, the object of education was to develop the mind and Victorian boys and girls would have been called a woman student had been awarded first honors for scholarship.

This year at New York University
co-educational schools first honors were won with one exception, by women. In the single exceptional case a male student tied for first place.

The old idea was that women had no head for business that they were out of their province in the sciences
that all they needed was a little poetry
a little school where they could learn to dance to sing and they were ready for the marriage market. The meaning that a woman's place was the home was the last word.

For better or for worse, the changes in these intervening years have changed the situation. Suffrage was a natural evolution. So called equality was the little cry of sex equality in the business world. The feminine mind was turned from the old order of things to the new, and the feminine mind developed along different lines.
In the arts particularly it is not recognized to note what important part is played by this feminine element. Most of the great works of art and music and poetry are the work of women.

of forming habits. The first step is to make a list of the things you want to do. Then, in the morning, before you get up, look at the list and decide what you will do today. Do it, and then in the evening, look at the list and see what you have done. If you have done everything, you will feel satisfied. If you have not, you will know what you need to do tomorrow.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

Fourth of July is a time when we think of the men who gave us our freedom. We think of the brave men who fought for us, and we think of the men who gave us our rights. We think of the men who gave us our country, and we think of the men who gave us our lives.

Freedom is the best of all things.
When a man has a free mind, he is free to do as he pleases. He is free to think as he thinks, and he is free to live as he lives. He is free to be what he is, and he is free to be what he wants to be.

If the politicians would let the people have their own say, they would be able to do much good. They would be able to do much good for the people, and they would be able to do much good for the country.

And all this better feeling, prevents the cotton market with prices downward. A much better feeling in the cotton market is reported with the fact that the cotton market is now
at a higher level than for some time.

Another thing that the first time in a book is on my mind. I have just read a book about the first time in a book. It is a book about the first time in a book. It is a book about the first time in a book.

A very interesting article recently appeared in the world. It was about the world. It was about the world.
It was about the world. It was about

Middleboro should have a very interesting article recently appeared in the world. It was about the world.
It was about the world. It was about
the world. It was about the world.

Editors note: The above article was written by a very interesting person.
It was about the world. It was about

Miss Margaret Hewitt Weds

A wedding of interest here took place last Tuesday morning when Miss Margaret Elaine Hewitt became the bride of Alfred Newman Martin, in Rome, N. C. The bride is the niece of W. R. Pool, and spent a winter here several years ago with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Davis Pool.

The wedding was performed in the All Saints Episcopal Church. The bridal party came in order, as follows: Ushers, Ned Manning of Rosemary, N. C., and Lewis Daniel of Weldon, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Florence Bingham and Miss Ruth Trueson of Rosemary, both in pink tulle dresses, made colonial style, pink tulle hats to match, and carrying old-fashioned nosegays. The maid of honor, Miss Jean Louise Hewitt, younger sister of the bride, was gown in pink georgette, with pink bonnet, and a nosegay like the bridesmaids. The flower girl, Helen Martin, niece of the groom, wore pink tulle with a pink bonnet, and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

The bride was dressed in white satin.

RELIGION TAKES NEW STRIDES IN RUSSIA OF LATE

Baptists Surprisingly Strong Send Large Delegation to International Meeting in Stockholm This Month

DR. MULLINS SCHEDULED FOR IMPORTANT ADDRESS

STOCKHOLM, July 2.—Religion in Russia is not dead.

War on religion, as reported in the recent execution of Archbishop Zephiar and the trials of priests and prelates, has this unexpected sequence.

One hundred Russian Baptists, ministers and lay delegates, are on their way—with the permission of the Soviet government—to Stockholm to attend the World Baptist Congress next month.

This convention, the first international session of the Baptists in 12 years opens on July 21 and will last for a week. Of its 2500 delegates, about 1000 are expected from America.

Since the Rev. R. S. MacArthur of New York, who was president of the Baptist World Alliance, died last February, and Dr. John Clifford of London, deputy president, will probably not be able to attend on account of his advanced age, the Rev. J. H. Shakespeare, European secretary of the movement has taken charge of the arrangements.

"America is the dominant Baptist country in the world," he says. "And Russia, surprisingly, is second."

"In the days of the czar we had only 150,000 members there. Today we have well over a million. The Soviet government does not interfere with our religious services."

"In their ability to turn to any creed they choose, thousands of Russians are joining our church. If the rate keeps no increasing, Russia may displace the United States as the great Baptist nation."

Previous world congresses of the Baptists were held in London in 1905, Berlin in 1908, and Philadelphia in 1911. The war and its aftermath interfered with the holding of the regular session this summer.

It is expected that the next convention will be held in the United States, at Washington probably.

Americans will play an important part during the sessions here. At the inaugural meeting when the governor of Stockholm will welcome the delegates, one of the replies will be made by the Rev. G. W. Truett of Dallas, Tex.

Women will have a big part in the congress. One of the chief addresses will be by Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, of Rochester, N. Y., on "The New Opportunity of Baptist Women."

On Sunday, July 22, Dr. A. T. Fowler of Brooklyn, the Rev. Lacey K. Williams of Chicago, the Rev. Frank Peterson of Minneapolis, the Rev. John Friborg of San Francisco and the Rev. O. Heden of Chicago will preach in various Stockholm churches. In the afternoon there will be a giant open air meeting in the leading Stockholm park with singing of sacred melodies by American negro choirs. Addresses will be made by Rev. J. A. Booker of Arkansas and David Paddley, a Kiowa Indian. In the evening there will be an address by Rev. David J. Evans of Kansas City.

On Monday the congress will send an address to the king of Sweden and also a greeting to President Harding, who is a Baptist.

An important address on Monday will be by Rev. E. Y. Mullins of the Baptist Theological Seminary, of Louisville, Ky., on "The Baptist Conception of Religious Liberty." He will also introduce a report by the commission appointed to prepare a message to be issued primarily to the Baptist world, but also to the Christian churches and the governments of the world. It will deal with the subject of international peace and disarmament.

Among the other American speakers on the program are the Rev. A. W. Beaven of Rochester, N. Y.; J. A. White of Chicago; Rev. I. J. Van Ness of Nashville, Tenn.; the Rev. C. H. Parrish of Louisville, Ky.; the Rev. J. H. Franklin of New York; the Rev. J. F. Love of Richmond, Va.; the Rev. E. Arlington Wilson of Dallas, Tex., and Dr. Curtis Lee Laws, editor of the Watchman-Examiner of New York.

Women--

New York, July 2.—The fact that of clothes as a factor in the life of women is stressed by Elsie W. in a large dressmaking establishment.

"Few women are careful in their appearance with their suits," she says. "They frequently become so with bands, little realizing how much of an illusion of marriage they do not explain. And illusion is such a poor thing in love."

Clothes will help a woman hold a husband as well as help her get one, Mrs. W. believes.

"The sensible woman takes clothes seriously morning, noon and night," she says. "She studies her figure and wears garments that reveal its best points. She plays up to the color of her eyes, she emphasizes her plumpness or her slenderness or her greatest charm—the attribute which made the greatest effect upon her husband the first time she met him."

"Furthermore, she isn't ashamed to make this effort or she doesn't hesitate to take her costume into her confidence and get her help."

"We dress-makers see women at their best and at their worst, and we see them as nearly unmasked as it is possible to see another. After all we all wear masks and they become such a part of our personality that they no longer are a pose."

"Women tell us what they really want, and in this we discover their deepest desires for expression and we mold our materials to their needs."

TODAY'S RECIPES

HOT CHEESE SANDWICHES

Cut the bread a little thicker than for the usual sandwich. Trim off the outer brown crust. Cut American cheese in thin slices and place between two pieces of bread.

Have ready one cup of milk to which is added one well beaten egg, one fourth teaspoon salt and one teaspoon sugar. Dip each sandwich in this, allowing it to remain long enough to become thoroughly coated, but not so long as to become soggy.

Into a frying pan put some butter and when it is hot but not browned, place the sandwiches in it and fry to a golden brown.

Serve hot with a spoonful of entrant jelly on each sandwich.

NOTE:—Beat the jelly slightly. One cup of milk and one egg will be sufficient for six sandwiches.

shots because they feel aggrieved over landing in a divot hole, or in a heel-mark in a bunker, and slash away at the ball in a don't-care manner. When you come right down to cases, a man who takes that attitude is next thing to a quitter.

When the tie is bad, just try to take the viewpoint that every other player encounters similar circumstances somewhere and that if others escape from such troubles with a minimum of wasted strokes, so can you.

NO SAVING IN CUI KENTUCKY WEEKLY TO ORDER HOUSES INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

Local Builders Say Office Work Is Too Much
Results, Considering Freight And Time With Employee's Study And Wages

LONDON, July 1.—The building industry in Kentucky is facing a serious problem, according to a study made by the Kentucky Industrial Review. The study shows that the cost of building a house in Kentucky is now more than double what it was a few years ago. This is due to a number of factors, including the high cost of lumber, the increase in wages for building workers, and the high cost of freight on building materials. The study also shows that the time required to build a house has increased significantly. This is due to the fact that building workers are now required to work longer hours and are paid more for their work. The study concludes that the building industry in Kentucky is in a difficult position and that it will be difficult to build houses at a profit in the future.

Lumber Companies Say More Than 120 Houses Built or Being Built Last Six Months

One hundred and twenty-three houses
have been built during this year
are now undergoing construction according to figures furnished by the three local lumber yards.

This includes only the companies
for patterns sold by these companies.
Of course there are several
in which two or more of the firms furnished materials and these would be included. There are other houses which have been constructed of materials bought from out of town. Conservative estimates would probably place the total number up to two hundred.

Most of the materials sold are for purposes of repair and not for new houses. These sales were not included in the above figures.

A variety of the houses being constructed at this year are frame structures. Among several first brick residences are being built. The lumber yard is able to furnish any kind of material and are now doing so for the modern residences.

Local dealers say the building period
has not really started in Middlesboro yet, that it usually begins during the latter part of the summer. Local industry conditions affect the building industry of course though most of the men are optimistic on this point.

Prices of materials are practically stationary now they say though local traders and authorities from other parts of the country say that prices will go yet higher. All local dealers are of the opinion that any person planning to build this year should lose no time in getting the work started.

*Simple Enough---The Reason
They Chose Ru-Ber-Oid*

A Ruberoid roof is an insurance against roofing troubles for years to come. Many laid in 1892
—when Ruberoid was first made—are still in service and have cost practically nothing for upkeep.

Ruberoid Roll-roofing has a record of durability which cannot be paralleled in the industry.
With the mineralized surface, of natural crushed
slate, it is particularly attractive for use on barns silos, sheds and similar buildings.

Ruberoid Strip-shingles are ideal for residences where there is a possibility of great variety in color treatment. Due to their unusual form, you may lay them in any one of many distinctive patterns. Furthermore, it is not necessary to use a single color in any of these patterns.
You may obtain an attractive blend of colors,
since the shingles are made with surfaces of natural crushed slate in sage green, Venetian red and steel-blue.
